- 90 professional success stories
- 56 challenges that CIAS is facing
- 54 suggestions for how we can move CIAS forwards

CIAS Retreat

From 166 faculty and staff attendees, we received:

- 90 professional success stories ← These are being followed up on by Marketing and Communications (Kelly Sorenson)
- 56 challenges that CIAS is facing
- 54 suggestions for how we can move CIAS forwards

CIAS Retreat

Main themes emerging from “Challenges” and “Suggestions”:

1. Workload Equity
2. Recruitment & Marketing
3. Integration and Collaboration
4. Communication & Transparency
5. Scholarship & Research

1. Workload Equity

- We're establishing a working group to develop a model that accounts for the variety of considerations that apply to the way teaching happens in CIAS.
- The goal is to achieve some progress before the Self-Appraisal process begins this winter.
- Please consider reviewing your curriculum and teaching approaches for possible efficiencies.

2. Recruitment & Marketing

- New Event Coordinator coming on board soon
- Email us your news items, success stories, visiting speakers, awards, grants, alumni updates, exhibitions, commissions, etc. at:

ciastellus@rit.edu

3. Integration and Collaboration

- a2ru consortium efforts are ongoing (contact is Susan Lakin)
- Outreach to colleagues in Engineering, Science, and MAGIC
- We're working on developing some mechanisms that can help facilitate and support cross-disciplinary activities within CIAS and between us and other colleges.

4. Communication & Transparency

- Reorganization of CIAS has given administrative chairs more access to information and discretion in school financial and HR affairs.
- A comprehensive upward evaluation will be in place by the end of this semester.
- The Dean's office is hosting regular "Coffee Hours" for open conversation.
- Associate Dean Chris Jackson is nearing completion of a complete overhaul of insideCIAS site!

5. Research & Scholarship

- Chris Jackson has been making great progress in this area in collaboration with Sponsored Research Services.....
more in the second half of this meeting.

Lastly...Strategic Plan

- Once President Munson releases his revised version of the RIT Strategic Plan (this winter?) CIAS will begin readdressing ours.
- Please let me know if you're interested in participating in that conversation.
