MOOD BOARD

03

Birds are always swinging and flying from one tree to another, looking for twigs among the leaves and branches and nesting together. Just like people in the exhibition absorb information, knowledge, inspiration constantly. And The NEST offers a space for them to share and communicate with each other and build the relationship.

The NEST encourages visitors to keep nesting this space, collaborate in the transformation of the space, to be a part of the designer. And all the twigs which Provided to visitors are yellow to match the WantedDesign's color scheme. So, the structure and visual effect will constantly change over time.

Following the WantedDesign's zero waste policy, the entire space will be using cardboard to prove its versatility as an environmentally friendly material.

Hoping that this space evolves into a vibrant hub for dialogue and conversation on the role of design, material & technology in protecting the earth's resources towards a sustainable future.

Hi!

I'm Hongmei Shi from Fuzhou, China. I'm excited to participate in WantedDesign interiors to meet design professionals and have an opportunity to gain experience and expand knowledge.

BIO BRIEF

The NEST is based on my individual concept from the first round of concept for Wanted Design 2020, and combined with the class ideas. The golden hour experience was inspired by Micky Zhang's individual concept, and the recycled cardboard tubes and tubes of shaw collection come from my classmates' ideation.
